

Building Identification

611 S. Broadway, J.R. Suter Building built in 1913 is printed on the date stone of this two story, one bay buff brick building. This is one of three buildings in the district to have stone capped battlements. Current occupant is House's Meat Market.

Finial

600 S. Broadway, Built in 1887 two story, one bay Victorian Italianate building. Its elaborate cornice and dated colossal pediment are topped with finials. Current occupant is American Title Resources.

Decorative Keystone

The Darke County Courthouse, Built in 1874 of stone to illustrate many hidden detailed features. The Keystone is just one of the details that welcomes one the entrance doors.

Corinthian Column

The Darke County Courthouse, shows example of Greek inspired columns. Corinthian being the most ornated of the three types can be found on the corners of the courthouse.

Metal Cornice Detail

124 West 4th, The Matchett built in 1885 has highly decorated projecting cornice detail differentiating first story to second story.

Symmetrical Windows

411 S. Broadway, Built in 1860 as a two story building. In 1872, a third story was added. The symmetrical windows give an added interest to the building. Current occupant Expressions of Tyme

Cornice

521 S. Broadway, Built in 1902, this two story, two bay buff brick building has an attractive deep cornice at the top of each story. Current occupant is The Bootery

Stained Glass

114 East 4th, First Presbyterian Church, 1889 Victorian illustrates a round stain glass window with a stone surround. Its main entrance is at the base of the off center square tower. A pointed frontispiece, flanked by cone topped turrets project from the main body of the church.

Rosettes & Cast Iron Lintel

537 S. Broadway, The Palace Building Built in 1898 The cast iron lintel is a support for the entry way with rosettes being a decorative function. The three story building houses many tenants with offices & eateries.

Palladium Window

118 West 5th, A two story Italianate from the early 1880's has been completely refaced with a material to resemble white bricks. This building began as a funeral parlor and was the McWhinney Free Library before Carnegie Library opened in 1903.

Decorative Window Hood

515 S. Broadway, The Anderson Building, built in 1880 is a red brick, two story, one bay Victorian Italianate store. It possesses one of the finest second story facades on S. Broadway with its decorative window hoods and cornice. Current occupant is Edward Jones

Title Cap

413-417 S. Broadway, The Ohio Block Building, built in 1883 with High Victorian Italianate architecture. The title cap is a feature that many prominent buildings possessed.

photographs courtesy of John Cook

Make sure to blog about your architectural hunt experience and share your pictures with us. We will gladly post on our website.

Blog: www.mainstreetgreenville.blogspot.com
Email: info@mainstreetgreenville.org

MAIN STREET GREENVILLE
Preserve Greenville's Distinct History & Architecture!